H&R Block Reports Tax Return Volume Through July 17; Fiscal 2021 First Quarter Results to be Released September 1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - H&R Block, Inc. (NYSE: HRB) today released its preliminary results for the recent U.S. tax season that was extended due to the coronavirus pandemic. Total U.S. tax returns prepared by or through H&R Block were 21.2 million for the period of May 1, 2019 through July 17, 2020, an increase of 0.7 million, or 3.3%, when compared to May 1, 2018 through July 17, 2019.

“I could not be prouder of the agility and resilience demonstrated by our team,” said Jeff Jones, H&R Block’s president and chief executive officer. “While facing unprecedented disruption to all facets of daily life, we served more clients than last year by delivering expertise and care, while accelerating our efforts to digitally enable all aspects of our business.”

Tax Season Results

The increase in tax returns was led by DIY online filings (excluding Free File returns) of 6.7 million, resulting in growth of 10.6%. This was the fourth consecutive year of growth in the DIY business driven by continued product innovation, competitive pricing, and increased awareness. Total Assisted filings were 11.5 million which represented a decline of 2.8%. As the company shared in its most recent quarterly earnings call, the challenging operating environment due to the COVID-19 pandemic and various state and local orders limited the company’s ability to operate its retail network.

“Our DIY growth was strong, and we continued to receive positive client feedback and third-party accolades on the product,” said Jones. “Following a strong start to the tax season in our Assisted business, we were on track to deliver our outlook for the year. During the extension period, despite our modified operating model, we finished strong and exceeded our expectations. We will continue to build on our leading capabilities to deliver our human advantage in innovative ways.”

The aforementioned results are included in a table attached to this press release.

Given the unusual nature of the tax season, there are elements of the industry data, such as paper filings and returns related to economic stimulus payments, that continue to shift week to week making it difficult to draw relevant comparisons. The company intends to provide additional perspective during its fiscal 2021 first quarter earnings call in September.
